no comment on the negotiations. Another Turkish threat in 1964 to go to the aid of the Turkish minority in Cyprus was thwarted when President Johnson issued a sharp, private warning to the Ankara government.

Vance could expect a warmer reception in Athens, where the military regime is in a less advantageous position. For the Greeks, war in Cyprus would mean fighting 600 miles from their mainland but only minutes from Turkish jet airfields 40 miles away. Turkey also is stronger militarily than Greece, and the Greek dictatorship can count on little or no aid from abroad.

'Hawaii' Road Show Coming Here Dec. 5

Mrs. Henry Seamans, manager of the Saenger Theatre announced today that she has completed arrangements for a special roadshow engagement of the marvelous motion picture "Hawaii", starring Julie Andrews and Max Van Sydow, starting on Tuesday December 5th.

There will be four performances of this production only in Hope — the evening shows starting at 7:30 and a special matinee at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday only, Dec. 6th.

"In smaller communities we have been unable to show the roadshow productions such as "Sound of Music" and "Hawaii", due to the long runs these pictures have had in big cities all over the country", commented Mrs. Seamans. "We have tried to obtain these type of films, but could not match the length of engagements offered by larger cities."

"However, the producers are trying to see the position of the smaller town theatres, and are offering this three day engagement of "Hawaii" as a test in 25 cities in the nation under 25,000 population who have theatres in first class condition who are able to present these fine pictures properly. We are proud we have been chosen in Hope to be one of those cities to show "Hawaii."

"It is our hope that we are right in our statements to the producers that we are a city that will support from time to time the early showing of top roadshow productions such as "Hawaii". The success of our showings and others in this test will be the determining factor as to whether producers will feel we are worth considering in our earnest requests for this type of show," concluded Mrs. Seamans.

"Hawaii" is from the famous best selling novel, beautifully produced, and is a motion picture for every member of the family to enjoy. As one reviewer put it "It is fine entertainment on a grand scale" — this describes "Hawaii".

Armored Boot May Save Feet of GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army soon will field test in Vietnam a new armored boot designed to save infantrymen from crippling wounds inflicted by Communist land mines.

Mines and booby traps have caused a higher proportion of American deaths and wounds in this war than in World War II and Korea.

Some 800 pairs of a new blast-protective tropical combat boot will be sent for field evaluation to Army and Marine troops in South Vietnam.

Another 100 pairs will go to soldiers patrolling the truce line in Korea, where armed clashes with North Korean infiltrators occur from time to time.

GP Contract Vote Planned

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — Frank Bond, president International Woodworkers of America, said Tuesday that members of his local would meet at 8 p.m. Saturday to vote on a contract proposal from Georgia-Pacific Corp.

The company's new offer followed a meeting with union officials Tuesday morning. Picket lines are still up at both of G-P's plywood plants here, where more than 750 union members went on strike four weeks ago.

Nebraska Not Out of Bowl Picture

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Despite their Thanksgiving Day loss to Orange Bowl-bound Oklahoma, Nebraska apparently is not completely out of the Liberty Bowl picture.

"I wouldn't say the loss to Oklahoma eliminated Nebraska," Liberty Bowl President A. F. "Bud" Dudley said by telephone from Philadelphia. "Nebraska put up a great game."

The word had been out earlier that Nebraska was a sure bet to get a bid to the Dec. 16 Liberty Bowl if the Cornhuskers lost to Oklahoma. They didn't, losing 21-14.

At the same time, the possible opponents for Georgia, already picked as home team, dwindled as Miami agreed to oppose Colorado in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Dec. 23, Wednesday night Syracuse, another potential Liberty choice, announced it would not go to any bowls.

Others still being considered by Dudley and his selection committee are North Carolina State, the winner of the Texas Tech-Arkansas game, and Florida State, if the Seminoles lose to Florida Saturday.

The Florida-Florida State winner has been assured a spot in the Gator Bowl against Penn State.

Dudley has called a meeting of his selection committee for 2 p.m., EST, Friday.

Texas A&M Going to Cotton Bowl

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

No one gave Texas A&M a ghost of a chance to win the Southwest Conference football championship when the Aggies lost their first four games of the season to Southern Methodist, Purdue, Louisiana State and Florida State.

But they didn't reckon with the heroics of quarterback Edd Hargett from the little Texas town of Linden.

He beat Texas Tech by running for a touchdown as time ran out, threw three touchdown passes to beat Arkansas, hurled two TD passes to beat Baylor and on Thursday hurled an 80-yard pass in the last quarter that beat Texas 10-7.

Their sixth straight victory not only gave the Aggies the SWC title and an automatic spot in the Cotton Bowl against Alabama on New Year's Day, it also put the University of Miami Hurricanes in the Bluebonnet Bowl against Colorado Dec. 23 at Houston.

Oklahoma, fifth-ranked in the Associated Press poll and already picked to oppose second-ranked Tennessee in the Orange Bowl at Miami, also came from behind to down Nebraska 21-14.

A crowd of 60,048 at Lincoln, Neb., plus a national television audience saw the Sooners beat the Cornhuskers on a 23-yard run by Eddie Hinton. The victory clinched the undisputed Big Eight crown for the Sooners who end their regular season next week against Oklahoma State.

Virginia Military edged Virginia Tech 12-10 in the 63rd renewal of the Military Classic of the South at Roanoke, Va., and Toledo crushed Villanova 52-6 at Toledo in other major games on Thanksgiving Day.

A seven-yard pass from Russ Quay to John Hince with 2½ minutes left gave the VMI Keydets their winning TD over VPI.

John Schneider hurled touchdown passes of 51 and 63 yards and Roland Moss scored three TDs to lead Toledo over Villanova. It was the ninth straight victory for the Rockets, co-champions of the Mid-American Conference.

Southern Mississippi walloped Louisiana Tech 58-7, Idaho State edged Portland State 22-21, Middle Tennessee downed Tennessee Tech 33-20 and Hofstra blanked C. W. Post 19-0 in other Turkey Day rivalries.

A capacity crowd of 50,000 at College Station, Tex., cheered Hargett after his winning TD pass to Bob Long that pulled the Aggies from behind a 10-7 deficit to beat Texas in the 74th game of the storied series.

The Aggies had the ball on their own 20 when Hargett faded back and threw the ball far down field. Long grabbed it on the Texas 36 and ran the rest of the way.

Nebraska had rallied from behind a 13-0 score to lead Oklahoma 14-13 at halftime before the Sooners pulled it out in the last quarter.

A short Nebraska punt gave Oklahoma the ball on the Husker 33.

A 10-yard pass, Bob Warnack to Steve Zabel, preceded Hinton's 23-yard sprint for the winning TD.

Muskies Are Winning Bay Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The way the Minnesota Muskies are winning games in the American Basketball Association it seems as if they will soon replace the Indiana Pacers at the top of the Eastern Division.

The Muskies moved in a tie for the No. 1 spot with a 101-75 home court victory over the Pittsburgh Pipers Thursday night. It was the Muskies' 12th victory in their last 14 games and gave them a 1335 record, the same as Indiana's.

The Anaheim Amigos scored a 107-95 road victory over the Oakland Oaks in the other scheduled ABA game, New Orleans had been slated to play at Kentucky, but the game was switched weeks ago to tonight.

Mel Daniels led Minnesota over Pittsburgh with 25 points as the Muskies broke open a close game with a 36-17 spree in the final period. Irving and Connie Hawkins each got 15 for the Pipers.

Anahelm trailed Oakland at the half 56-54, but took command with a burst of 18 straight points in the third period.

Warren Davis, 6-foot-7, paced the spree with five straight baskets. He finished with 32 points, 14 in the third quarter.

Hayes Leads Dallas to Victory

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Thanks to Dallas' Bob Hayes and Oakland's stingy defense, the Cowboys and Raiders used Thanksgiving Day to move closer to a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Hayes sped to three long-yardage touchdowns that sparked the Cowboys to a 46-21 victory over St. Louis Thursday night in the Cotton Bowl and sent them nearer the National Football League's Capital Division title and a holiday season shot at the NFL championship and Super Bowl.

And at Kansas City, Oakland intercepted four passes and returned two for touchdowns as it clobbered Kansas City 44-22, enhancing the Raiders' chances of replacing the Chiefs as champions of the American League's Western Division by Christmas and as AFL champs by New Year's Day.

Oakland, 9-1, still has one major obstacle in the West, the San Diego Chargers, 8-1-1, who also have visions of titles after sinking Denver 24-20 in San Diego.

Los Angeles, another NFL hopeful in the Coastal Division, kept after Baltimore by belting Detroit 31-7 in Detroit in the other Thanksgiving Day game.

Dallas retained at least a two-game lead over Philadelphia and Washington with the Eagles playing at New York Sunday and the Redskins at Cleveland. The Rams sit a half-game behind Baltimore, which invades San Francisco.

The other Sunday NFL games match Atlanta against host New Orleans, visiting Green Bay against Chicago and Minnesota against Pittsburgh in Pittsburgh.

Boston plays at Houston and Buffalo at Miami in the AFL before the big clash between Oakland and San Diego the following week.

Celtics Get Shock Form Supersonics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The biggest turkey on Thanksgiving Day proved quite a shock. It turned out to be the Boston Celtics, who played like they ate too much.

The expansion Seattle Supersonics left the Celtics sitting at the table Thursday night as they mauled Boston 133-106 in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, after watching the slaughter, stayed hungry long enough to dispose of San Diego, the other expansion team, 128-117 in the second game.

In the other two games, the Chicago Bulls pulled out a 106-96 victory over the New York Knickerbockers in Milwaukee, Wis., and Los Angeles whipped Detroit 132-120 in Los Angeles.

In the ABA, Minnesota beat Pittsburgh 101-75 and Anaheim defeated Oakland 107-95.

Boston, playing like fat cats, watched along with an unbelieving crowd as Seattle ran off 15 straight points in the first quarter for a 25-8 lead. It got still worse for the Celtics as the score climbed to 75-31 at the half and the Supersonics were well on their way to handing Boston one of its worst defeats in many years.

Bob Rule led Seattle with 26 points and Walt Hazzard chipped in with 22 and 14 assists as the new team won for the fourth time in the last five outings. Bailey Howell had 22 and John Havlicek 21 for Boston.

Philadelphia, taking advantage of the rout, pulled within one game of the Eastern Division leading Celtics by hosting into an 89-64 lead and then holding off a Rocket rally that cut the gap to 107-102.

Wilt Chamberlain, smarting from criticism of his poor scoring, hit a season high of 31 points for the 76ers, who broke a two-game losing streak. John Block had 24 for San Diego, which lost its fourth straight.

The Bulls trailed 56-44 at the half, but Barry Clemens' three-point play tied the score at 62 and seconds later he put Chicago ahead to stay. Keith Erickson, who scored 22 of his 33 points in the last half, helped keep the Knicks back.

Doc Barnette led New York with 26 points as a crowd of 5,048 watched the first NBA regular season game in Milwaukee since the Hawks moved to St. Louis in 1955.

Los Angeles raced to a 31-7 lead, but had to fight off the Pistons with eight quick points by Archie Clark. Mel Counts and Gail Goodrich, when Detroit climbed within 124-115 with two minutes left.

Negroes in Threat to Olympics

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A boycott of the 1968 Olympic Games by leading U.S. college Negro athletes was threatened today, and a young professor said it will be carried out.

"This country is not for us," asserted Harry Edwards of San Jose State College in announcing unanimous approval of his plan at a meeting attended by 200 young Negroes.

Outside the South-Central Los Angeles church, where the three-day Black Youth Conference was taking place Thursday, violence erupted between a Black Power group and a small leftist band of pickets shouting obscenities and yelling such taunts as, "Bourgeois Negroes!" One man was cut severely on the face, another shot in the wrist.

The meeting itself was not disturbed.

Edwards said 50 amateur sports figures attended and endorsed the Olympic boycott.

Among them were Lew Alcindor and Mike Warren, basketball stars of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Tommie Smith and Lee Evans of the world-record mile relay team from San Jose State.

Edwards said the group also included Otis Burrell, former Nevada high jumper, UCLA hurdler Ron Copeland and Hal Griffin, UCLA football player. In addition, he said he has communicated with athletes throughout the Western states and they will "go along."

Although none of the U.S. Olympic teams has been picked, Edwards said Negro athletes supporting a boycott were among those most likely to be chosen for the games next October in Mexico City.

Asks Fan Not to Drink Sat.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—W. Frank Lambright, chairman of the War Memorial Stadium Commission, says a Little Rock city ordinance prohibits drinking in public places and has asked football fans to abstain from drinking Saturday at the game between the University of Arkansas and Texas Tech.

Lambright said numerous persons had protested to stadium personnel about drinking and drunkenness during games at the stadium this year.

Lambright said ticket takers would be authorized to refuse admittance to persons carrying whiskey.

Clear to Cloudy for Game Sat.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Clouds, partly cloudy, and temperatures in the 60s and 70s forecast for Saturday's football game between the University of Arkansas and Texas Tech in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium.

The Little Rock weather bureau says southerly winds at five to ten miles an hour are also forecast for the 12:30 p.m. kickoff.

Holiday Death Toll
Is Lagging

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The number of deaths on the nation's highways mounted today as many Americans celebrated the long holiday period after a traditional Thanksgiving dinner with relatives.

But the early death toll lagged behind last year's pace that led to 748 traffic fatalities for the 102-hour Thanksgiving period, a record for any holiday.
The early morning count was 156.

For comparative purposes,
The Associated Press made a survey of traffic deaths covering a 102-hour nonholiday period equal to that of the Thanksgiving holiday. From 6 p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 8, to midnight
Sunday, Nov. 12, there were 567 deaths reported.

Motorists were faced with hazardous driving conditions in sections of the West, Southwest, North and Northeast. The Weather Bureau reported that highways in 15 states were slippery from rain, snow or freezing rain.

number of persons expected to die on the highways all holidays except Thanksgiving. The council feels that most Americans spend this holiday at home, and consequently, there are fewer cars on the highways than during most other national holidays.

The worst accident reported thus far during the Thanksgiving period took the lives of four 18 year olds at Tell City, Ind.
Their car ran off a road and hit a tree.

A sailor, William G. Foster, 20, who had been wounded in Vietnam and recovered at a naval hospital in Pensacola, Fla., was killed as he drove to his home in Eros, La. His car collided with a pulpwood truck.

During the four-day Memorial Day holiday this year there were 608 traffic deaths. And 732 fatalities were reported during the four-day Independence Day observance. Both are records for the respective holidays.
The toll during the three-day
New Year observance was 489.
The Labor Day holiday—also three days—accounted for a loss of 604 lives. Neither was a record.

mored personnel carriers destroyed.
A company of U.S. reinforcements was flown in Thursday and two more companies went

In the other battle, 52 miles

Color Review of War Eagle Fair Handcraft Exhibits

First Time in Arkansas for Two Separate Process Color Pages in the Same Edition

This is the first time, as far as we know, that run-of-the-paper process color printing has been brought off by an Arkansas newspaper. Previous full-color pictures in The Star have appeared on one page at a time. Today there are two pages — this one, and the picture of the Buffalo River on Page One.

It's a great technical "break-through" for The Star, because it means we can run as many color features simultaneously as we wish, up to the capacity of the press. If you can synchronize two color pages you can synchronize four, our limit on an 8-page edition — or two color pages in a 12-page edition.

Synchronization in printing is called "registration." The color negatives — four to a picture — the page negatives, and the plates that go on the press, all are punched on a registration-table so they will match each other exactly. Then when the press controls are used to align the four simultaneous printings required of process color all pages will respond exactly. Otherwise one page would be "in" and another "out."

For today's edition Alex. H. Washburn, editor-publisher, made the 4x5 Ektachrome pictures, and the separation negatives for the press plates on the Berkey separator. Billy Dan Jones, mechanical superintendent, registered negatives and press plates on our Carlson registration table. The press, of course, was our five-unit 20-page Fairchild News King Model 475 rotary offset, using United States Printing Ink Corp's process color and black inks.

Now that the technical stuff is behind us here are the pictures:

TOP LEFT — On Saturday, Oct. 21, The Star took one of its 4x5 Speed Graphic cameras on the road and photographed the Ozarks Arts and Crafts Fair at War Eagle in Ektachrome. The Fair, held Oct. 20-22 this year, was staged by Mrs. Blanche H. Elliott, executive director. Saturday's crowd was larger than Sunday's a year ago, which we also attended, but despite the confusion of 15,000 to 20,000 people we came home with these six color photographs.

BOTTOM RIGHT — Dolls by Mrs. Van Morlo, 713 Hinchshaw Drive, Springdale; and Mrs. Dolores Landgraf, Imperial Route, Carden City, Kan. The exhibitors are famous on the handcraft fair circuit for their ingenious dried-apple-headed dolls — at least that's what it says here . . . If the editor's notes are as reliable as his pictures. Trying to line up a 4x5 camera on exhibits while 15,000 to 20,000 people are jostling you is calculated to reduce writing to an insufferable scribble. But that's what the notes say: Dried-apple-headed dolls.

Gen. Westmoreland's Prediction on War Could Haunt Him

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland's prediction of possible U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam within two years evokes memories of a forecast antiwar critics have never let Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara forget.

Both the Westmoreland forecast and McNamara's 1963 prediction hinged on the same factor: Development of the South Vietnamese army as a force effective enough to fight Communist forces with decreasing U.S. help.

But there is an important difference in the firmness of the predictions made by McNamara and Westmoreland, some four years apart.

McNamara forecast a major part of the U.S. military job could be finished within two years, by the end of 1965.

But Westmoreland speaks about a token withdrawal starting in about two years and hopefully becoming progressively larger. And the commander of U.S. Forces in Vietnam repeatedly uses the word "conceivably" in speaking of the beginning of the phase-down over that span.

Asked at the National Press Club Tuesday whether he felt uncomfortable about making such a prediction in the light of McNamara's forecast, Westmoreland replied:

"My statement is to the effect it is conceivable to me that within two years or less it will be possible for us to phase down our level of commitment and turn more of the burden of the war to the Vietnamese forces."

On Oct. 2, 1963 the White House issued the statement that McNamara since has regretted. It came after he and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, then chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had returned to Washington from a Vietnam inspection.

The White House press office announced:

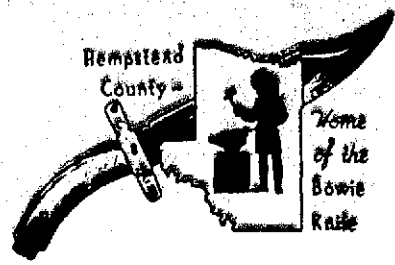

"Secretary McNamara and Gen. Taylor reported their judgment that the major part of the U.S. military task can be completed by the end of 1965, although there may be a continuing requirement for a limited number of U.S. training personnel."

Changes Mind About Draft

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Peter F. Goodman, 18, of West Memphis, Ark., arrested last week when he refused to register for the draft at Albany, 65 miles south of here, told a U.S. Commissioner Tuesday that he had changed his mind and had signed up with the Selective Service.

Tax Assessing Is Life-Blood of Local Government

State Representative Talbot Feild, Jr., threw a bouquet our way in today's news-story reporting that Arkansas' new "mail order" auto licensing system threatens severe tax losses to school districts and local government because it would eliminate the compulsion to assess and pay personal property taxes as required in past years when buying auto tags at the courthouse.

Mr. Feild wrote your editor: "No one, more than you, understands the importance and collection of the assessment and collection of real and personal taxes at the county level. You have always waged a vigorous fight to that end."

The assemblyman is referring to events turning back a generation and perhaps they should be summarized for the benefit of our younger readers.

We figured in a re-assessment program at El Dorado before moving to Hope and consolidating the local newspapers in 1929. In the 1940's we pushed locally for assessment reform, and in the 1950's served as a member of Governor Cherry's Committee of Twenty-Five to draft a 100 per cent assessment law. None of these endeavors was successful — nor were the alternates, our 1955 and 1957 state-wide petitions to halt the expansion of the state sales tax, our belief being that the more our public institutions leaned upon the sales tax the less chance there would be to reform Arkansas' dishonest voluntary property assessment system.

Our position was frequently misunderstood. We, who were trying to do something, were called "a controversial figure" by others who chose to do nothing.

Your editor may be "controversial", but the assessment issue is not. Adequate local taxes are the life-blood of local government. Without support at the local tax level you are abdicating home rule and turning over most taxes and most authority to the state and federal governments — for the government that pays the fiddler is the government that calls the authoritative tune.

Over the years we weren't able to "sell" our assessment reform idea either state-wide or here at home. Why?

One reason is that there is a good bit of larceny in too many people's hearts. They couple the idea of higher assessments with "higher taxes," although this isn't necessarily true of the average individual taxpayer. With presently full and honest assessments the gross total of assessments might be so large that the average taxpayer's bill would be changed little or not at all. But if he fancies that the present system saves him a tax-dodging dime he doesn't care who gets away with $100.

For the same larcenous reason he rejects local taxation paid direct, with 100 per cent of it spent in the local community, and, slave-like, accepts taxation by the state government, which returns only 75 per cent of his tax dollar to the home government, whose return on the tax dollar is only 50 per cent. But the biggest block of all in the road to property assessment reform is the arbitrary and mistaken policy of the very people whose institution tax reform would help — the public school administrators and the Parent-Teacher Associations. We speak from personal knowledge and hard experience.

During the late lamented Hempstead county re-assessment program, and again during the debate over the ill-fated state-wide 100 per cent assessment proposal under Governor Cherry, we explained to school people how assessment reform would work — and got a universal "No."

If property assessments are doubled, we said, the tax levy would be cut in half — and the taxpayer's bill would be unchanged in dollars. This tactic tax wouldn't be raised until the people were given a chance to vote an increased millage on the new high-level assessing base. "No" replied the school administrators, loudly and forcibly.

They, poor saps, had the quaint notion that you could raise taxes by arbitrary assessment increases — bypassing the right of the people to vote on millage. Are they right and am I wrong?

A 100 per cent assessment program has just been inaugurated in the state of Florida, with assessments increased and millage reduced proportionately so that the taxpayer's bill is unchanged — and won't be changed until he elects to vote for a higher millage on the higher assessing base. Which is precisely what your "controversial" editor fought for 15 years ago.

Maybe this will give you pause — "controversial" is a weasel word that may depend more on geography than on local opinion.

We are on a hard rock trying to save home-rule government here in Arkansas. "Patriots" denounce prodigal spending in Washington — but while you're busy waving the flag don't forget to do some preaching back home. Unless you set your local tax house in order your vaunted American home rule is dead and gone.

Let the fiddler play. But if you're not paying him don't blame your editor if you don't like the Thousands of Arkansans know this scene — it's the Buffalo River viewed from the west side of the bridge on State Highway No. 7 just north of Jasper en route to Harrison.

The picture, on 4x5 Ektachrome, was made by The Star's editor-publisher Alex. H. Washburn at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 22, 1967, and he made the color separations for today's press plates on The Star's 8x10 Berkeley color separator, first large model of this new invention bought by an American newspaper. Chicago Tribune right afterward bought an identical machine.

This was a bad season for Autumn foliage in the Arkansas Ozarks, owing to drought damage to the maple trees during the Summer. Buffalo River was the only worth-while outdoor color picture Washburn and a companion, L. Carter Johnson of Hope, found on a 727-mile tour of the Arkansas and Missouri Ozarks Oct. 20-22. It was made on the way home from Eureka Springs and the War Eagle Ozarks Arts and Crafts Fair near Rogers.

The Buffalo, one of America's famous "wild rivers," was threatened for a time by the Corps of Engineers' projected Gilbert Dam, but the Corps retreated in the face of an aroused public and press. The federal government now has under consideration a project to make the Buffalo's course a national park, preserving its natural beauty for tourists.

Before's today's publication Washburn telephoned Pete Shiras, who with Tom Dearmore owns the Baxter Bulletin at Mountain Home, to inquire whether the Gilbert Dam project was really dead. Shiras said that the latest map of the Buffalo issued by the Corps of Engineers eliminates mention of the dam — therefore the national park project appears to have clear sailing in Washington.

Pentagon Studying a Plan to Re-equip the Vietnamese Troops

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon authorities are studying U.S. military proposals to re-equip the South Vietnamese army so it can take on a larger share of the war burden.

Modernization of the Vietnamese army, development of better leadership, and the instilling of self-confidence are basic to Gen. William C. Westmoreland's hopes for beginning at least a token withdrawal of U.S. troops by late 1969.

The United States has been trying to fashion the South Vietnamese army into an effective fighting force for six years or more.

But Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, believes this objective is within grasp and is basing his program on that faith — judging by his statements in Washington this week.

The plans envision a staged modernization program to provide the South Vietnamese regular army with about 225,000 M16 rifles and with M60 machine guns by December 1968.

In 1969, the South Vietnamese would be given a considerable number of helicopters and new helicopter pilots. More Vietnamese airmen would be trained as helicopter pilots.

The United States now provides most of the airpower and artillery for the South Vietnamese army. There is no indication of any major change in this — possibly because U.S. military leaders in Vietnam have used control of these important resources to apply leverage on the South Vietnamese when persuasion was needed.

The Vietnamese army now has a mixture of M14 rifles and carbines, except for a relatively small number of the M16s given to the South Vietnamese elite airborne and marine units.

The M16 is lighter than the M14 and has a higher rate of fire than either the M14 or the carbine.

The South Vietnamese regular forces number some 334,000 men and there are indications virtually all of them eventually will get the M16.

Westmoreland reportedly won approval in principle of his proposal but details aren't firmly set. No dollar figure on the cost of the project was available.

He also forecast that next year the United States is counting on decreasing the number of
